

Software Engineering Services Leader Encora Appoints Lalit Wadhwa as EVP and Chief Technology Officer

Accomplished Senior Executive to Strengthen Service Capabilities and Accelerate Client Impact

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., Apr. 19, 2021 – Encora, a leader in outsourced software engineering services, today announced Lalit Wadhwa has been appointed executive vice president and chief technology officer, effective immediately. Wadhwa’s appointment underscores the company’s broader investments in technology capabilities and next-gen client service offerings. In this role, Wadhwa will be responsible for overseeing the development of proprietary technology products and strengthening the use of advanced technical tools and methods in Encora’s client services.

“We are delighted to have Lalit as a member of our Global Leadership Team,” said Venu Raghavan, CEO of Encora. “His deep experience and passion for data science, artificial intelligence/machine learning, cloud adoption and platform modernization are extremely well aligned to the core value we deliver to our clients every day. Under Lalit’s leadership we will accelerate the development of a customer-centered, personalized and competitive business model that exceeds client expectations.”

An accomplished engineer with extensive experience working with high-growth companies, Wadhwa is also a thought leader and frequent speaker at industry events and conferences. Most recently, he served as Vice President, Advanced Analytics at Wesco Distribution, where he was responsible for building the company’s data, advanced analytics & digital capabilities across service lines.

“I am excited to join Encora and support the organization in helping customers expand their businesses through digital transformation,” said Wadhwa. “I am also honored to be joining the leadership team and being part of this unprecedented period of the company’s growth.”
